HARMONY IN PARTY RANKS.
Concluded from 1st page.

The resolution was then adopted.
CONDENNING McLAURIN.

The resolution condemning McLauren was unanimously adopted with applause.

AS TO CUBA.

The following resolution offered by Chairman Hoyt for the committee was unanimously adopted.

The democratic party, in convention assembled, felicitates the patriots of Cuba upon the happy conclusion of their long and heroic struggle for independence, and, greeting the new republic with hearty wishes for its prosperity, declares the gratification with which this State would welcome Cuba should she hereafter of her own free will seek membership in the American union. Until that time shall come we hold that the government of the United States, moved by considerations of duty, honor and expediency, should maintain with the republic of Cuba a policy of liberal commercial reciprocity.

TILLMAN'S TRIBUTE TO HAMPTON.

Senator Tillman then came to the front and said:

Mr. President: This convention has paid fitting tribute tonight to a living South Carolinian. I think that we should express ourselves in regard to one who has crossed over the river. I therefore ask to offer the following resolution:

Whereas it has pleased God, in his wise providence, to call to his eternal rest our illustrious fellow citizen, Wade Hampton, and whereas, we, the representatives of South Carolina, in convention assembled, recalling his glorious example in war and in peace, and especially mindful of his incalculable service to the State as her great leader and counselor in 1876, would put on record our sense of his noble career and our appreciation of his loss; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of Gen. Wade Hampton, South Carolina laments the loss of one of her greatest citizens and most distinguished soldiers and a leader and counselor in her direst necessity to whom she owes a debt of lasting veneration and love. His name and fame are a heritage of which any people might be proud.

Mr. Croft seconded the resolutions. Col. George Johnston spoke feelingly of the deceased Statesman and recited incidents in his career. His tribute was eloquent and beautiful. From his retirement Gen. Hampton had come forth in 1876 and we owe his memory our gratitude.

Senator Mayfield offered the following amendment: "And we further recommend that a suitable statue be erected by the State and placed in the State capitol." This was adopted.

The resolutions were then adopted by a rising vote.

The Daughters of the Confederacy had a request for action on the Hampton memorial, which was read and the secretary instructed to inform them of the action taken.

ISSUES QUIETLY DISPOSED OF.

Senator Tillman then presented the following report of the committee on constitution and rules which was adopted by sections, without discussion or opposition.

The committee on constitution and rules beg leave to report as follows:

First: On resolution offered by Mr. McKeown proposing a change in the constitution in regard to qualification of voters in the primary, we report unfavorably and recommend that it do not pass.

Second: Resolution by Mr. W. J. Johnson proposing that the primary be held two weeks sooner, report unfavorably and recommend that it do not pass.

Third: In reference to the proposed amendment of Mr. G. W. E. Sharpe, your committee recommend as follows: After the word "masters" on next to the last line, page 2, insert "but not for members of the county board of control or the dispensers," so that it will read as follows: "Provided, That the county executive committee of any county shall be at liberty to order a primary election for magistrates and masters, but not for members of the county board of control of the dispensaries, nor for county dispensers."

The various resolutions offered by Messrs. R. I. Manning, J. W. Gaines and D. H. Magill in regard to changes in article 6, we have considered them all carefully as well as the whole subject of a change in the pledge to be given by candidates and we recommend an amendment to said article, as follows: After the word "nomination" near the end of said article, insert the following: "and each candidate for the United States senate and for the United States house of representatives shall file an additional pledge that he will support the political principle and policies of the party during the term of office for which he may be elected, and work in accord with his democratic associates in congress on all party questions. All pledges shall be filed on or before 12 o'clock m. of the day preceding that day fixed by the State executive committee for the first campaign meeting."

TWO RING CIRCUS ADOPTED.

Senator Tillman also presented the following, which likewise was adopted without a word of discussion or a vote against it. This was one of the matters supposed to be loaded disposed of:

Article XI. of the constitution be stricken out and the following inserted in lieu thereof:

Article XI. Before the election in 1902, and each election thereafter except as herein provided, the State democratic executive committee shall appoint and arrange for the campaign meetings to be held in each county, not less than two weeks apart, one of which meetings shall be addressed only by candidates for State offices, and the other only by candidates for United States senator, United States house of representative and circuit solicitors.

In addition to such campaign meetings the county chairman of the respective congressional districts and judicial circuits shall, when there is more than one candidate for either of said offices, arrange for and appoint separate campaign meetings for their respective districts or judicial circuits, the time and place of such meetings to be published in each county, at which only the candidates for said offices shall be invited to address the people. Provided, That in any year in which no candidate for United States senator is to be voted for, the State executive committee may dispense with the second campaign meeting it is authorized to appoint under this article.

Senator Tillman moved the adoption of the resolutions as he finished reading. There was nothing said by any one and the vote was taken.

SUDDEN ADJOURNMENT.

Then some one moved that the convention adjourn. Senator Mayfield managed to get a resolution thanking the officers of the convention. Col. Jones announced a meeting.

Health and Beauty!

Universal Good Condition. Esthetic Quality. Twin words are these, more significant than any others pertaining to the human body. One implies the other. There can hardly be health without some degree of beauty, and certainly there can be no real beauty without health. Woman can control her health to a great extent, but keep her menstrual organs in healthy condition.

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator

It is popularly known as the best medicine for the relief of women suffering from irregular menstruation. It corrects the derangement or stoppage of the menses. It cures headache, backache, shooting pains, nervousness or blues. It permanently stops Leucorrhoea or Whites, and restores the falling womb to its normal position. If woman will regulate her menstrual function with this medicine, perfect and perfect health, pink and white complexion, will follow, as the natural result of a richly nourished blood and regular menstruation. Sold in all drug stores at $1 per bottle. A perfect health for Women is free. Write for it.

ing of the State committee afterwards, and then the convention adjourned sine die a little before 11 o'clock.

TILLMAN SPEAKS.

There were cries for "Tillman," and the senior senator took the stand and spoke for over half an hour, frequently warming up to his work. He was loudly applauded at times. His speech was vigorous and devoted to national issues and prospects for the democratic party in the next campaign. He gave also a brief account of his stewardship in very plain language. He was given marked attention throughout and loudly applauded when he finished.

THE POTATO BUG.

Col. T. Larry Gault. Gives the National History of the Irish Potato Bug.

Editor Greenville News:

I would like the use of your columns to address an open letter to the biologist, or humbugologist (as the case may be), of Clemson College.

As you know, I have quit turning a journalistic grindstone that politicians might sharpen their axes, have transformed myself into a simon pure one galls farmer, and am strictly following the Biblical command, to earn my daily bread by the sweat of my niggers' brow. Among various agricultural experiments, I planted a patch of Irish Potatoes; but scarcely had they appeared above ground, when a species of insect carpet-bagger—evidently unpardoned convicts, as they were arrayed in stripes—appeared, and in a few days my potatoes vanished into striped fibres.

I noticed in your paper that an enterprising Greenville druggist advertised Paris green as an antidote for this new pest, and I forthwith invested 25 cents in that remedy. But, Mr. Editor, it was money thrown away. In fact those bugs seemed to thrive and fatten on this new diet, and so I decided that you had as well try and poison a darkey on water melons, or exterminate Methodist circuit riders by feeding them on fried chicken, as to eradicate the potato bug by feeding him on Paris green.

I see that my old Georgia friend, Major Charles Smith ("Bill Arp"), says you can get rid of these bugs by picking them off the vines as fast as they appear. I also tried that remedy, but find it entirely too expensive. I am satisfied that it will require the constant service of three abledbodied and nimble fingered hands to destroy, as fast as they appear, the bugs from a 30-foot row of Irish potatoes. After reading "Bill Arp's" letter I engaged two young abony-hood pickaninnies, and under my personal supervision started them to work. I made them take each hill separately and pick off every bug, confining them in a Pass X dispensary flask, for I decided if that decoction didn't slay them, they were "pusen" proof. I went over each row six times, and they gave up in disgust and despair. Those bugs increased so fast, and grew so rapidly, that before I could get to the end of the row the great great grandsons of the imprisoned bugs were big enough to vote. Garrack's Gourdvine, when it comes to rapid growth, was a Rock of Ages compared with the Irish potato bug.

Mr. Garrett Ballinger, one of my neighbors, told me he saved his potatoes last year by covering them with pine needles. Well, I tried that remedy, too, and it was "love's labor lost." A few mornings later I visited the scene of my experiment and found the bugs playing see saw on those needles, or enjoying bridal-tour straw rides.

Mr. Mark Rudisail, a self-made wool-hat professor of natural history, says those bugs are germinated in the eyes of the potato, and if you will boil them before planting that those pestiferous insects will not appear. I believe that Mark has discovered the only solvent remedy; but to make assurance doubly sure, it would be well to wash your seed potatoes off with a mixture of salt and pepper, and then fry and eat them. I am satisfied that if our Irish potato growers will try Mr. Rudisail's plan, with my amendments, that they will not be troubled with bugs, and it is the only solvent remedy that I can devise.

And the most surprising thing about those new visitors is their voracious appetite. I made a mental calculation, after watching a potato bug take his noonday lunch, and comparing its size with that of a full grown man, decided that to give the latter a moderate dinner and feed him entirely on a vegetable diet, he must consume the entire foliage from 3,260 acres of dense forest, and leave every tree and shrub bleak and bare, as in the dead of winter.

This, Mr. Editor, is my experience with the Irish potato bug. Whether these pests have of late years germinated in our soil, or like unto the carpet-bagger after the war, are a northern importation, I am not prepared to say, but these pests are now with us, and like the mother in law, when she takes up her abode with a loving and newly married daughter, I am afraid that they are here to stay.

Now, we farmers last year, under the guise of inspecting fertilizers, paid over $80,000 last year in the way of a special tax to help support Clemson College. The Supreme Court of North Carolina has decided that such a tax is illegal, and the State can only charge for the actual cost of inspection. Not one farmer in 500 in South Carolina receives any direct benefit for the 25 cents tax he is required to pay on every ton of guano he puts under his cotton, and besides, if the State levies a special tax on fertilizers to keep up a so-called "farmers' college," it is not just, also, to levy a special tax on silk dresses, diamonds, pianos, dress suits and fly hats to maintain those purely literary educational institutions, the South Carolina College and Citadel Academy? But if the Biologist, or professor of natural history (whoever it may be), will give us farmers some solvent remedy to eradicate and exterminate the Irish potato bug, I will pledge Clemson that we will not continue to uncompensatingly pay that special fertilizer tax, but rise en masse and bless its name.

Inman, S. C. May 12, 1902.

HOUSEWORK
Too much housework wrecks women's nerves. And the constant care of children, day and night, is often too trying for even a strong woman. A haggard face tells the story of the overworked housewife and mother. Deranged menses, leucorrhoea and falling of the womb result from overwork. Every housewife needs a remedy to regulate her menses and to keep her sensitive female organs in perfect condition.

WINE OF CARDUI
is doing this for thousands of American women to-day. It cured Mrs. Jones and that is why she writes this frank letter:

Glendale, Ky., Feb. 10, 1901.
I am so glad that your Wine of Cardui is helping me. I am feeling better than I have felt for years. I am doing my own work without any help, and I washed last week and was not one bit tired. That shows that the Wine is doing me good. I am getting desirous that never was before, and sleep good and eat heartily. Before I began taking Wine of Cardui, I used to have to lay down five or six times every day, but now I do not think of lying down through the day. Best recommendation I can give is a Camera. Sent free to any body who is anxious to better his condition.
